

902nd Military Intelligence Group

Commander:
Col. Michael D. Bisacre
Command Sergeant Major:
Johnnie Neill

Mission: The 902nd Military Intelligence Group conducts counterintelligence activities to protect the U.S. Army, selected Department of Defense forces and agencies, classified information and technologies by detecting, identifying, neutralizing and exploiting foreign intelligence services and transnational terrorist threats.

The 902nd MI Group provides direct and general counterintelligence support to Army activities and all Army major commands. It also provides general support to other military department counterintelligence and intelligence elements, all unified commands, several defense agencies and national agency counterintelligence and security activities and organizations.

The 902nd MI Group headquarters and subordinate battalion activity headquarters are located at Fort George G. Meade, Md. The group has company headquarters, detachments and resident or field offices in 29 other locations inside and outside the Continental U.S.

The 902nd MI Group consists of the Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 308th MI Battalion, 310th MI Battalion and the U.S. Army Foreign Counterintelligence Activity.

The HHD provides personnel administration, training and logistical support to the 902nd's headquarters and provides billeting for the group soldiers and several designated units on Fort Meade.

The 308th MI Battalion conducts baseline counterintelligence security operations, collection and investigations in support of Army installations, and active and reserve forces throughout the United States. It conducts vulnerability assessments and focused collection efforts at major Department of the Army and Department of Defense research, development and testing facilities, including large contractors. The battalion also provides CI security advice and assistance to joint and national-level agencies and multidiscipline counterintelligence support to the international treaty verification process throughout the United States.

The 310th MI Battalion is the Army's largest defense counterespionage asset. It conducts counterespionage/counterintelligence investigations, CI operations and multidiscipline CI technical operations in support of Army and defense agencies in peace and war. It is the only Army unit that can employ all of the CI disciplines in a comprehensive operation.

The FCA supports U.S. Army and counterintelligence activities through detecting, identifying and providing unique operational "windows" into the plans, intentions, and activities of foreign intelligence organizations directed against the U.S. Army. A significant mission of the FCA is to counter the threat from proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and high-technology weapons systems.

